

XM Radio has without a doubt the best, most consistent, broadbased traffic and weather channels to ever hit the air. Finally, you can travel from state to state and get traffic and weather conditions 24/7 with out going up and down the dial and hope you didn't just miss the conditions for the local area your headed for. The fact is commerical radio, if at all, gives seldom, sparse, and not totally accurate info. XM Radio is far and away the most important contributor to the air waves since Marconi.
